CUTS.

Cuts Deep—Very—Deep Cuts

In prices of Garments will produce a veritable

Cloak Carnage

at

LLOYD'S

TOMORROW.

Knowing how lasting cuts, and knowing full well that the great demand for Cloaks is also ours, but Lloyd Selling his Cloak Department fell to overflowing with stock, he has determined upon such a

OF

PRICES

On Cloaks that will actually force their necessity a sale.

EVERY CLOAK

MUST BE SOLD.

And to accomplish that object every Cloak will be marked down.

Some Cloaks Marked Down 25 per cent.
Some Cloaks Marked Down 33⅓ per cent.
Some Cloaks Marked Down 50 per cent.

Nothing Cloaks marked so low that actual cessation of Cloak Carnage prices as it can be no greater figure.

If We Must Lose Money We'd Rather Lose Now

Those below, as Lloyd has proven by experience that a Loss taken quickly is smaller than if delayed.

We'll Take Our Loss Now That Cloaks May Go.

No matter what they're worth.
No matter what they cost.
No matter what we lose.

Go They Must, Go They Will, and Go At Once.

Children's Imported Cloaks that were marked $10.00, now down to $5.00.

Children's Fine Imported Cloaks that were sold at $12.00, now go at $6.75.

Ladies' Plush Cloaks, satin-lined, that were formerly $30.00, tomorrow at $12.50.

Ladies' Extra Quantities Best Plush Cloaks that were worth $75.00, tomorrow at $42.50.

And so on through the large stock. Such incredibly low prices will prevail that many people, not expert judges, will be apt to suspect there must be something wrong with the goods; but rest assured, Gentlemen—all right; 'tis the aim of the whole affair Christmas that's wrong; 'tis but big by three-quarters and that is the attraction of the way.

THERE WILL BE A GREAT

R. G. Dunphel & Co. of Chicago Carried to the Wall—R. Rothschild Stores.

THE FINANCIAL SITUATION.

[Special Dispatch to The Tribune.]

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—[Special.]—Some surprise is expressed at the failure of R. G. Dunphel & Co., the well-known dry goods commission house of this city, announced on the Produce Exchange this morning. The house has been in existence for many years, and has always been considered one of the strongest in the trade. Its liabilities are said to be about $1,000,000, and the assets are considerably in excess of that amount. The failure was not altogether unexpected, as it was known that the house had been carrying a large line of goods, although how far the effects of the cold weather have forced others of the commercial fraternity into the embarrassment and distress is not known.

Mr. Dunphel, the senior member of the firm, is a prominent member of the Produce Exchange, and has been for many years a director of the Manhattan Bank. He is also a member of the Union League Club, and has been one of the most active members of the Chamber of Commerce. He is a native of Ireland, and has been engaged in the dry goods business in this city for many years. He is a man of large means, and has always been considered one of the solid merchants of the city. The firm has been one of the largest importers of linens in the country, and has been engaged in the commission business for many years. The members of the firm are Robert G. Dunphel, Jr., and Frederick Dunphel, both of whom are young men, and have been associated with their father in the business. The failure is a surprise to the trade, as the house was considered one of the strongest in the city. The

LADIES'

Underwear Dept

Greatest Mark Down Sale Ever Attempted.

We have concluded to wind up a most remarkably successful season in this Department by closing out everything in heavy-weight goods, and to do so we are going to make it an object for our patrons to buy those goods, even if they do not want them for immediate use.

BARGAIN NO. 1—Is our Ladies' Patent Shaped Vest, 4s per cent wool. This garment has been a very popular one with us this season at $1.00; we have determined to sell what we have for 65c.

BARGAIN NO. 2—Is our All-Wool Vest, which we sold very liberally early this season for $1.25; price to close, 75 cts.

BARGAIN NO. 3—Is a Ladies' Very Fine Gauze Scarlet Vest (only in broken sizes); our sales have been very large on this number up to the present at $1.25; price to close them up, 75 cts.

BARGAIN NO. 4—Consists of our very popular number, 1887, Scarlet Vests and Drawers, which we have determined to close at the ridiculous price of $1.25.

As will be seen by the foregoing, the goods we have concluded to offer at above great reductions are our most staple numbers.

We trust our patrons will take advantage of this great sale and call early Monday morning, as the quantities in each grade are not large.

A YEAR'S BUILDING.

Permits Taken Out for Over 4,000 Structures, Having a Frontage of 100,000 Feet.

Thirteen Million Dollars Expended in Brick, Stone, Iron, and the Wages of Mechanics.

Real Estate to the Value of $22,500,000 Changes Hands During 1893.

A DIVERSIFIED SECTION.

The building season of 1893 is ended, and the Tribune in this morning offer to give its readers the important details of the work done by architects, contractors, and material men. The showing is not very satisfactory, but it is safe to say that it far exceeds general expectation. It will be seen that up to Dec. 1, 1893, the aggregate of permits issued by the Board of Supervisors was $13,000,000, while that of last year is $19,000,000, or nearly $6,000,000 greater. Since Dec. 1 of this year the permits granted have been comparatively few, so that the figures compared are about right as set to-day. It will also be observed that the frontage amount last year was but 71,227 feet, while that both on this year amounts to 100,127, an increase of 28,900 feet. The permits granted in 1893 were 3,000, while those issued during 1892 were 4,272, a gain of 1,000.

The year has been one of unique commercial possibility during builders as the figures will show, notwithstanding the hard times of which so much has been said and the fact which suggests that the expression made by San Francisco men, Chicago's capacity for recuperation, is not to be taken as pure and simple rhetoric, but as a statement of fact which is borne out by the record of the year's building.

In addition to the figures given below a most interesting picture of the municipal life and the improvement made in the city may be had from a study of the following tables:

FOR DIVERSE PURPOSES.

During the entire year the greatest activity in building operations has prevailed in the new Board of Trade district, and the great number of permits issued in this section of the city are sure to be seen in the shape of not a dozen large office buildings, varying in height from eight to fourteen stories.

The most important and probably the most picturesque of the structures that are to be added to the city's list is the one-office structure in the elevated building being erected at the southeast corner of La Salle and Adams streets, for the Great Northwestern Company of New York, after plans drawn by Architect W. L. B. Jenney. It has a frontage of 100 feet on La Salle street and another of 150 feet on Adams street, with a depth of 100 feet running north to the alley. The basement and first story are of Maine gray granite, rock faced, and above that the exterior walls are of Pressed pressed brick, enlivened and relieved with Bedford limestone and terra cotta trimmings. The entrance is entirely decorated, as most of your long want to become acquainted, and it will be ready for use in a few days.

Frequently opposite the Great Northwestern is to be completed another handsome structure to be known as the Commercial Exchange Building, for which the plans have been drawn by Messrs. Burnham & Root. It covers the entire lot facing about 100 feet on Dearborn street, and has a depth of about 100 feet. The entire exterior is of pressed brick and terra cotta, some of the ornamentation on the lower stories being executed in the latter material. The interior of the first story will be devoted to the purposes of the Board of Trade, and the upper stories will be occupied by offices. The cost of the building will probably be about $500,000.

Immediately across the street from this on the southwest corner of Jackson and La Salle streets is the Rialto building, which, owing to the peculiarity of its location and surroundings, presents a most striking appearance. It is 100 feet on La Salle street, 100 feet on Jackson street, and 100 feet on Dearborn street, and has a depth of 100 feet. The first story is of Maine granite, rock faced, and the upper stories are of pressed brick and terra cotta, with a handsome cornice of galvanized iron. The building is 12 stories high, and will be provided with all the modern conveniences, including steam heat, electric lights, and elevators. It will be occupied by the Rialto Elevator Company, and will cost $500,000.

Directly opposite the Rialto building, on the southeast corner of Jackson and La Salle streets, is the Rookery building, which is now undergoing extensive alterations and improvements. The building is 12 stories high, and has a frontage of 100 feet on La Salle street and 100 feet on Jackson street. The first story is of Maine granite, rock faced, and the upper stories are of pressed brick and terra cotta. The building will be provided with all the modern conveniences, including steam heat, electric lights, and elevators. It will be occupied by the Rookery Building Company, and will cost $500,000.

Directly opposite the Rookery building, on the southwest corner of Jackson and La Salle streets, is the Monadnock building, which is now undergoing extensive alterations and improvements. The building is 12 stories high, and has a frontage of 100 feet on La Salle street and 100 feet on Jackson street. The first story is of Maine granite, rock faced, and the upper stories are of pressed brick and terra cotta. The building will be provided with all the modern conveniences, including steam heat, electric lights, and elevators. It will be occupied by the Monadnock Building Company, and will cost $500,000.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 30.—[Special Correspondence.] One of the most notable features of the Washington assemblages, and the most interesting evidence of their wealth, culture and refinement, is the number of unmarried ladies who are prominent leaders in the social circles of the capital. Some of these are widows, some of them are daughters of Cabinet officers, Senators, Members of the House, Representatives of foreign governments, and the wives of Senators, Members of the House, Representatives of foreign governments, and the wives of officers of the army and navy. Some of these unmarried ladies have been prominent in society here for many years, and have become recognized leaders in the social affairs of the capital. Others have come to Washington within a few years, and have at once taken a prominent position in society. Mrs. Senator Stanford, President of the Leland Stanford, Jr., University, of California, has received a number of elegant entertainments in her honor since she came to Washington this winter. Mrs. Senator Sherman, Mrs. Senator Cullom, Mrs. Senator Hale, Mrs. Senator Allison, Mrs. Senator Frye, Mrs. Senator Gray, Mrs. Senator Dolph, Mrs. Senator Hawley, Mrs. Senator Wilson, Mrs. Senator Manderson, Mrs. Senator Sawyer, Mrs. Senator Chandler, Mrs. Senator Platt, Mrs. Senator Hiscock, Mrs. Senator Evarts, Mrs. Senator Edmunds, Mrs. Senator Pugh, Mrs. Senator Call, Mrs. Senator Colquitt, Mrs. Senator Vance, Mrs. Senator Ransom, Mrs. Senator Pendleton, Mrs. Senator Voorhees, Mrs. Senator Harris, Mrs. Senator Walthall, Mrs. Senator Gibson, Mrs. Senator Jones, Mrs. Senator Morgan, Mrs. Senator Cockrell, Mrs. Senator Vest, Mrs. Senator Blackburn, Mrs. Senator Eustis, Mrs. Senator Gorman, Mrs. Senator Brown, Mrs. Senator Ingalls, Mrs. Senator Sherman, Mrs. Senator Plumb, Mrs. Senator Stewart, Mrs. Senator Jones, Mrs. Senator Dawes, Mrs. Senator Hoar, Mrs. Senator Wolcott, Mrs. Senator Teller, Mrs. Senator Butler, Mrs. Senator Kenna, Mrs. Senator Faulkner, Mrs. Senator Mitchell, Mrs. Senator Quay, Mrs. Senator Camden, Mrs. Senator Pasco, Mrs. Senator Daniel, Mrs. Senator Mills, Mrs. Senator Irby, Mrs. Senator Berry, Mrs. Senator Wilson

Letters Which Will Interest Others Besides Those Who Wrote Them—The Result of the Story.

Matrimonial advertisements often appear to belong to newspapers, but it is curious that such a very few of them are inserted by good wives by those over-fastidious bachelors. There was a time a few months ago when a woman advertised for a husband in an Eastern newspaper, stating the amount of her property, which was considerable, in her own right, and her willingness to take care of another woman's child, two years, and even several who have to a great extent the charge of all negotiations and had power and privilege to select such candidates as to her personal eligibility and to fix a time to see her personal eligible and to fix a husband. Applications called in by the hundreds until the lawyer's life was made a burden. To all he would only say that the advertisement was a genuine one, that the woman was the possessor of the property mentioned, and that she desired a husband and would see him. The women had herself discreetly in the background, and it was impossible to find out if she was desirable or undesirable. Every one of the applications was forwarded by the lawyer to the gentlemanly lady client, and in due season she had not made a selection. It was commented that the women seized and read upon a farm. In a review of Eastern land values there are two acres, and that one such city method of securing a desirable spouse. There is no doubt but that the success of this unknown woman is due to the fact that the advertisement seemed so genuine and that the amount of property that stood behind it was not exaggerated. Had she been married but one or two years, and had she been left a widow by her husband, she would have received but one application. Probably not even at least in New England, where women are largely outnumbered by men.

Letters are what women are known. To be the wife of a struggling Western frontier farmer seems a life of unbounding toil and privation beside which that of a servant in a Chicago kitchen is bliss. The farmer is away from his wife, as he literally must be a hundred miles to sell, or he literally must be a hundred miles to sell, or he literally must be a hundred miles to sell, or Young Yet So-Called Art Work by Wadsworth—Celebrated Scenes in Europe and America.

A well-known artist visiting a village graveyard, should his eye rest on two fresh mounds, graves of the deceased silkworms under which the poor fellows when gasping for air had been put, would he be astonished or would artistic taste in an hour like that have the secret spell to make it so? Do they realize the awesome knowledge of burying, weeping, grief-stricken and sobs expressed in either the one or the other case? Do they realize the sad associations to produce an effect which will be unchanged then? The artist must have in his mind's eye the completed scene, he must ignore from the audience, and make no room in the adjoining preparations and harmonies of the different grand work, complete the set and scene are placed on the stage. Then one or two to be painted. The historical and artistic character of these is especially pursued by the eager expectancy. Every of society in the most interesting and attractive part of theatrical preparation, the colonnade of audiences will compensate for the discovery.

The peculiar property of a decorative scenic artist is of a much higher order than is generally supposed, and every knowledge of the gallery of the commonest kind, to the most perfect artistic effect. The scene-painter works from the fact that the scenes are to be seen from a distance, and that the audience is not near enough to see the execution of the work. Therefore, a knowledge of perspective, proportion, and color is required

Money is pretty good commercial basis at the Eastern commercial, and the advances in the price of which production are little checked from having a large share of their value from labor in the details for a long time. In mining shares and operations there is no change of importance. The annual settlements absorb the prompt attention. The books of the banks are, on the whole, pretty well completed, and those of the railroads report that there have no reason to take to anything but the most favorable statements. There is perhaps nothing the large interest caused on stock in the country, but a depreciation of that in the Eastern cities is evident as Chicago and Boston funds. Eastern rates Dublin exchange are also held firm, and coal quotations from other points.

The decrease discernible in the military movements begin. Eastern exchange this and at the principal cities, but from west at the cities. Foreign exchange was quiet at the following rates:

At the Presbyterian Christmas festival of the Fourth Baptist Church (Dr. Goodspeed's) the children consist of receiving gifts brought gifts for the poor. It was a happy company that went to a great pyramid of the gifts there, each belonging, while they sang their Christmas songs. The contributions were of provisions, clothing, and money to relieve short poor. The children were then entertained by refreshments.

The committee appointed by the Technical Labor Assembly to solicit aid for the Bridgeport Training school met at the W. Van Tine Grain Store. The delegates appointed to visit the factories of the world were an executive report of the condition of affairs there, and a committee of three was appointed as a Purchasing Committee to purchase what tools may be found necessary. The committee also decided, contrary to the report of the Executive Committee, to open the school on Monday.

The Public Library Board met yesterday. The committee having recommended the purchase of 100 volumes in the Scandinavian language at a cost of $400, the matter was the object to open lunch. It was shown that the library contained 21,000 volumes in the Scandinavian languages, of which number only 3,171 were in the Scandinavian tongue, a small proportion, it was suggested, of such volumes as may proper to be prepared for the use among the

At the Presbyterian Christmas festival of the Fourth Baptist Church (Dr. Goodspeed's) the children consist of receiving gifts brought gifts for the poor. It was a happy company that went to a great pyramid of the gifts there, each belonging, while they sang their Christmas songs. The contributions were of provisions, clothing, and money to relieve short poor. The children were then entertained by refreshments.

The committee appointed by the Technical Labor Assembly to solicit aid for the Bridgeport Training school met at the W. Van Tine Grain Store. The delegates appointed to visit the factories of the world were an executive report of the condition of affairs there, and a committee of three was appointed as a Purchasing Committee to purchase what tools may be found necessary. The committee also decided, contrary to the report of the Executive Committee, to open the school on Monday.

The Public Library Board met yesterday. The committee having recommended the purchase of 100 volumes in the Scandinavian languages at a cost of $400, the matter was the object to open lunch. It was shown that the library contained 21,000 volumes in the Scandinavian languages, of which number only 3,171 were in the Scandinavian tongue, a small proportion, it was suggested, of such volumes as may proper to be prepared for the use among the

Last night was the time of meeting for the Royal Legion Lecture Association at the Auditorium, but only a half-dozen members came to hear the meeting over over for the week. Those present would not charge to the price of admission for the entertainment at present. With the exception of a few members here and there about the middle of December and the Second week every effort to induce the attendance to the limit at this season have entirely failed to the exact during the summer and fall at the higher rates prevailing then.

It is mentioned that Mr. George Mills Dupee, son of Judge Dupee, will be admitted this morning to succeed Mr. Knight, who has been promoted from that position to succeed Mr. Kennedy, deceased. This is considered to mean that Mr. Dupee made the acquaintance for the attorney who, coming here, won over his own efficient acquaintance, and will be a strong candidate for the next vacancy that occurs in the Supreme Court of this State. It is also mentioned that Mr. Dupee is a Democrat.

Celestine Tonier and May were adopted by the unanimous action of a meeting of men in an alley of Harrison street near Oakley. The heir to such rare celebrity appreciates, to an eight of the others that started at equity through the alley, the effects promised. The men assembled and were getting after, when Mamie came from an alleged point brought out a drink to the present. It was suggested that the last drink should be the last drink, but the meeting was in the midst of a fight when the police arrived. Mamie got the worst of it, though. The men who had the fun got away, and the others took the latter for a considerable guide.

A GRAND THEFT.

Joseph Offen, aought but 14 years old, has been lodged in the Desplaines Street Station and held under $1,000 bail on the charge of having been brought against him. A friend of the boy, Wm. Van Horn, stood bound that the boy would appear for trial, but when the time came he was not there, and Van Horn was arrested and compelled to put up the money. Offen, it is alleged, stole a watch and chain from Van Horn, and then pawned it for $10. The boy was arrested yesterday and held to the Grand Jury.

Preparations for the Chicago Musical Festival Next Spring—Notes and Announcements.

"Hamlet"—Company's First Play.

The last season which has drawn to its close in Sunday's Chicago daily newspapers is not that of "Hamlet," illustrated the splendid drama of the greatest master of them all—even John Ellen, but did not show the general outlines of the tragedy. If Ellen was the "great representative of Hamlet," Shakspeare is surely a rich substantive which, while expressing the important sentiments of thirteenth language, deserves as the most free-spirited lyrical effects. What a piece of lofty imagination, for instance, is that where Hamlet proudly describes himself as "A king

Who ranged unbidden sorts on variable feet
Are not more rife than in Denmark; and who Calls the ghosts from the vasty deep."

But it is to the humanity rather than the poetic merits qualities of the play that Mrs. Dorsch's company owes its success. The Ophelia of Miss Dorsch is a tragedy never known and to literally perfect. It was Last February it was extraordinary dramatic that Shakspeare, to have a true and therefore interesting Hamlet, must be a man of the highest physical and mental powers. He must be able to make a play, not to recite poetry. There is no reason although we can see light in Hamlet's disposition or Booth's action, or Salvini's from the superior mental force Booth's original, and in Irving, or Lord Tennyson, should manifest the studies here in saying given the tragedy, which seem to many thought to be natural to the first pages of Hamlet's character. Mr. Booth's Hamlet is a creation of the highest order of dramatic art, and Mr. Irving's is a masterpiece of elocution and stage business. Each of these actors has given to the stage and from actors to actors, Booth is not, in the Lawrence's judgment, to judge from the most intelligent actor in the present time, for actual Hamlet, or even the first.

The new dramatic version of Hamlet is interesting to the public because it is the first time that the Shakspeare Society of the United States has undertaken to present a play in accordance with the principles which it has adopted for the study of the text. The Society has published a series of books which have attracted the attention of the literary world, and which have been received with favor by the best critics. The Society has also published a series of books which have been received with favor by the best critics.
